4 It helps determine what's next.

C2B not only lets you explore and learn about employers and opportunities in your community, it facilitates decisions about additional education and career goals, giving you that extra boost of confidence to make future plans.

5 It grows your professional network.

You'll have opportunities to interact with and learn from an expanded group of peers and adults who can help kickstart your career by providing invaluable advice and guidance, positive professional references, and ongoing mentorship.

"As a student, trying to find a job is really difficult. It really helps to be a student and to already know which businesses you'd like to interview with and work for."
